56 Ashby St, Fairfield

A FAIRFIELD PROMINENT PIONEERING FAMILY OF THE AREA IS AVAILABLE NOW

Set on 1227m2 facing due north, this 1920's Queenslander is known locally as "Orana", and was the homestead of the original farm. It has been passed down through generations, a Fairfield prominent pioneering family of the area.

The style is spacious and gracious with verandahs on three sides, fretwork, french-doors, arches and timber features of the time. The high ceilings are exceptional featuring it's elegant light fittings, bringing light and space into it's own.

It enjoys a prominent position, a northern view to the City in a convenient and sought after location.

The block of land has three street frontage with potential for the astute developer.

"Orana" has never previously been offered to the market. This is a rare chance to secure a premier property in this near city location – don't hesitate or you may have to wait another 95 years! So if you are looking for
